

The history of the Saturn 2.0

This document is a complete overview of the history of the Saturn Empire from June 2022 until 12 April 2025, written by Fulgur on 12/Apr/2025. Saturn Aeterna.

Was rewritten and expanded upon by Fulgur on 04/Nov/2025, the original “The history of the Saturn Empire” can be found at <https://docs.google.com/document/d/1MS4Z0tgzQgS3wPaBXx-Na-1pk1XLuZKeob64xZh6T6s/e/dit> - however keep in mind that the document has more errors compared to this one and is not as up to date.

July 20th 2022, Fulgur joined 6b6t, until January 2023 he was running a kitshop with his brother and briefly joined 1.12.2 ShulkerGang. His username during this time was Yomogeinishi and created his first base which still exists.

Saturn Empire

Saturn Empire was founded by aze on 10 August 2022 together with his cousin JoniZ. Aze intended to grow Saturn to promote and sell his games. He advertised the group in SoundCloud's Discord server and on Disboard.

Wildy was the first member of Saturn, but after realizing that all other members were bots, he left, claiming he had joined by mistake, only to rejoin immediately after.

Over time, Fulgur, Denial, LightKaneki, Emilsen, Xiao, and Yaso also joined. Emilsen created a Discord bot named J-COIN, a meme-like cryptocurrency, which became an inside joke within the server. At one point, a forgotten moderator of Saturn nuked the Discord server and made a clone called the Neptune Empire, which quickly died off. At some point a separate server was made for J-COIN which was rediscovered and lost again in late 2023, Emilsen was the owner of this J-COIN server.

A member of Saturn named Hua got into drama with a pedo named Husky and contacted other Saturn members including but not limited to, aze, Wildy, Fulgur, and Emilsen to help in the nuking of Husky's server.

Hua claimed to be in contact with the police during this entire incident. Fulgur managed to gain owner rank due to a bug in dyno's configuration and the server was subsequently nuked. And the proper authorities were contacted.

https://docs.google.com/document/d/1Wn9N-fJ7w-zpj1amDIpjT0UGrD9dvnbd91tbxoGW_H4/edit

Aze intentionally doxxed himself in the announcements channel, to admit a lie that he had been telling since Saturn Empire's creation, Fulgur saved the message as aze.txt, knowing it would be deleted quickly. LightKaneki deleted the announcement just seconds later. Following this, aze quit Discord and handed ownership to Emilsen and aze's discord account got terminated. However, he later created a Guided server to continue speaking with Saturn members.

At some point during this time aze started hating Yaso and Xiao and vice versa. Aze would come back on alt accounts to continue running the server in the background while Emilsen remained as the frontman, Yaso and aze's secret alts were in continuous arguments. Aze would also continue to actively advertise the server leading to a steady increase in members.

During Emilsen's ownership, he launched multiple Minecraft servers, which became active hangouts where Saturn members regularly played together, the first few being based on the Earth map, however after the first iteration the map kept corrupting leading to a final unpopular naturally generated map which killed the idea of a saturn minecraft server for the time being.

Ship built by Fulgur on the first server ^

Eventually, around September 2022, aze regained ownership of the Discord server on his new main and deleted it. Despite the deletion, the Saturn Empire friend group remained intact with the exception of Xiao and Yaso and continued on through a Discord group chat.

Yaso went on to run his own geopolitics discord server and wasn't contacted again after early 2024, Xiao was contacted again shortly in the summer of 2025 where Xiao admitted lying before disappearing again.

It's mostly forgotten what happened between September 2022 and May 2023 as we weren't able to recover any screenshots from this period but we do know the group chat we were in was fairly active, containing atleast Fulgur, denial, aze, Wildy, Emilsen and LightKaneki.

January 2023, Fulgur renames to KingNont and joins a newfag group called CF team, and helps create 2 stashes using one of the IKEA dupes, the group was disbanded shortly and Fulgur remained as the only active player with access to these stashes, he traded one stash for a then rare illegal and kept the other one for Saturn use to this date.

Saturn 6b6t

Saturn 6b6t was founded on May 30th, 2023, by aze, Fulgur, and Wildy after Fulgur sent screenshots of himself playing 6b6t in the group chat, which convinced aze and Wildy to join him.

They traveled far along the highway and built a small shack with a TP trap for gathering materials. They stayed at this shack for around a day until they discovered how to use the IKEA dupe. After duping a few kits, they flew far out and founded the first Saturn base-an underground structure made of quartz. During this period, Wildy created the Saturn 1x1 mapart, the 2x2 better red than dead, and the original Saturn 6b6t Discord server was created.

After about a week, they traveled 400k blocks out into the End to establish Saturn 6b6t's main stash, and they publicly leaked the coordinates of the original base. The stash eventually grew to over 20k dubs. Saturn 6b6t grew in Discord members through kit delivery and adbots, many of whom eventually became full Saturn members. One of these members, Witted, teleported Saturn members to a new far-out location, which became Saturn 6b6t's main base. The base initially featured random pixel art, but later a wall was constructed around the peninsula, and numerous builds were added by both the leaders and members. At some point Capy made a discord for 6b6t base renders, which convinced Fulgur to make this render of the base.

There was also a new base constructed in the end for recruits which went through an end island from top to the void.

On July 21st, Advik leaked the password of his Advik555 account to Saturn members which resulted in all of his homes getting grieved <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VjgxRKO7BwM>

On July 22nd, aze hosted a pvp tournament which he wanted to turn into a video but never did, the prize was a VIP rank Fulgur ended up winning but since he already had prime rank he gave it to deeznuts69 instead (2nd place) <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JzsQ-lfhcNc>

Somewhere around this time Saturn auth camped fea3ther to ruin his planned 6b6t fightclub event. Saturn also co-founded "Monopoly" a multigroup clan which participated in the 1st incursion against TheHorizon. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=O3jCeMBmf-E> (full POV from Monopoly perspective.)

In August 2023, Fulgur joined a clan named NRNR, led by Mortex, and developed several coding projects for them, including a chatbridge for most anarchy servers and an Aternos server seeker. This solidified a lasting friendship between NRNR and Saturn. At some point NRNR would grow inactive and mortex would be considered a Saturn member alongside another NRNR member named jo.

During this time, bd71legend spammed the Discord server, prompting Saturn to declare war on the clan he led, Shulkergang. This triggered a surge of insiders targeting Saturn, including from Laggang (especially Myniany). The clan went into "paranoia mode," denying any new applications. This shift led to a slow decline in activity, even after Saturn had peaked at around 560 Discord members and 30 active clan members, which at the time was the 2nd largest clan by discord members only behind Colonizadores.

At its peak, Saturn members grieved Zealandia's tunnel project three times for fun, alongside members of the Fallen Empire. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=T1gxvBfVbZM> <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lqpE80UXFck> - at the time Zealandia was considered the worst clan of 6b6t, so this was more of cyberbullying a kid.

Saturn also insided and grieved a clan named JaponAce, but after talks, the two clans allied. A week later, a member of JaponAce named goxdev joined Saturn since JaponAce went inactive. However, after a month of building at the main base, he threatened to leak it to Laggang in order to join them. In response, Saturn self-grieved both the recruit base and the main base. The main stash, however, had never been shared with any members and remained safe.

Following the grief, a clan-wide purge of untrustworthy and inactive members took place, reducing the clan member count to around 10. A new base was built in the End, shaped like the planet Saturn.

Eventually, the clan went inactive. The base was handed over to bd71legend as a decoy for one of his plans. A few months later, in late 2023 or early 2024, the Discord server was also given to bd71legend by Wildy for use in bd71legend's new clan, Tesseract.

Aze wanted to make a new video in which aze, Wildy and Fulgur would each make PVP bots to see which one would be better.

Saturn Dark Ages

At the beginning of 2024, bd71legend attempted to get aze, Fulgur, and Wildy to assist with his projects. One of these projects involved insiding The Imperials alongside AlmasWarlord, and another involved helping bd71legend build a base, the Saturn owners never ended up helping him with any of the projects. However, after some time, bd71legend stopped reaching out to Saturn's leadership, and the group's activity fell to an all-time low. The friendship between bd71legend and Saturn's owners lasted.

In January 2024, Denial, a former Saturn member, created a group chat that included several Dutch members, among them Fulgur, Menology and mx. This group chat would become the central hub for all remaining Saturn members throughout 2024. Shortly after its creation, Wildy was added, and aze, LightKaneki and Emilsen followed.

In January 2024, aze, Wildy, Fulgur and denial lagged Sarra.io, as well as tried to start a web development company called Hydroweb <https://hydroweb.vercel.app/>

Somewhere between January and July 2024, aze, Wildy and Fulgur worked on a API-based chat called Velocity

```

(8) Wildy: Hey
(9) Fulgur: Hey
(10) Fulgur: Wra
(11) Fulgur: Wildy
(12) Fulgur: Bad
(13) Fulgur: Wildy still on velocity??
(14) Wildy: yes
(15) Fulgur: avatar
(16) Fulgur: I have unlocked mania
(17) Fulgur: p

-- All client --
2023-12-23
21:08

-- Online Players --
Fulgur (FulgurClient)
aze (aze-client)
mx (mx) (velocity api)
```

In July 2024, a revival attempt of Saturn took place. Although short-lived, it did result in two notable projects:

- 6b6tdb: A website that allowed users to view a live 6b6t chatbridge and search historical chat logs.
- The Saturn Website: Hosted at <http://saturn.nont123.nl>, serving as a tool to apply to the clan and learn about the group's projects.

6B6T Message History

Type your message here...

 endcrystalpvp
do you want a newer map with a better dupe, join 2b4u.co.uk.
At 2024-07-24 15:27:22

 L58H
JOIN THE 555 NOW -> dsc.gg/clan-555 fjchsfqizjkgd
At 2024-07-24 15:27:12

 endcrystalpvp
2b4u.co.uk is a better anarchy server than 6b6t.
At 2024-07-24 15:27:12

 Din_Grogu
...

bd71legend and Mortex were added as additional leaders, alongside the original trio: aze, Fulgur, and Wildy, though Wildy remained largely inactive since the fall of Saturn 6b6t.

Somewhere around this time Fulgur auth camped Advik for about a month during this time and gave around 20~ dubs of netherite kits to Iced to grief the 555 logo. Fulgur and aze theorized about an authentication exploit later used by Autism Inc in 2025, but dismissed it with the assumption that "the auth is probably good enough"-a lesson in not overestimating, indeed.

Despite the initial momentum, the revival lasted at most a month. The lack of motivation by the owners led to dwindling activity.

Not much is known about Saturn during July 2024-February 2025, other than that the Saturn gc was active.

Lambda

Having a lambda pfp became a trend among Saturn members starting as early as late 2023, with Fulgur and A.D.T being the first to adopt it. After the failed revival attempt of Saturn, the lambda pfp trend spread significantly among former Saturn members. This shift eventually led to Lambda becoming an 6b6t clan in early February 2025.

Lambda was led by a group of former Saturn members, including Emilsen, aze, Fulgur, LightKaneki, mx, Wildy, bd71legend, Mortex, and Menology. A creative Minecraft build server was launched, a new stash was created, eventually growing to around 2k dubs-and a new base was founded. The lambda discord server was the same discord server used during the July 2024 revival.

Mx being forced into slavery on the build server^

However, internal conflict soon struck. A disagreement between aze and bd71legend led to a fractured leadership, effectively splitting the clan into multiple loosely connected factions. This conflict of leading Saturn caused activity to plummet rapidly. Bd71legend wanted a segregated clan where builders, pvpers and programmers were all kept separate from each other and managed by different people, while aze wanted the opposite.

Eventually, Fulgur went schizo and destroyed all Lambda and most remaining Saturn bases and stashes. In response, aze deleted the Lambda Discord server, marking the end of the short-lived but ambitious Lambda clan. Notable Projects During Lambda:

- Creating a Mineflayer bot using efly to map a 20k x 20k area of 6b6t overworld and end spawn.
- Developing a 6b6tdb app version for android access to the chatbridge and filters.
- Making the 3x3 Lambda mapart.

Tesseract

Eventually, Saturn members grew tired of reviving our old clan. This boredom of constant revival led us to join a group called Tesseract, led by PollyNeedCrack. Within just two days, Fulgur befriended PollyNeedCrack and was promoted to clan leader.

In an effort to rebuild something meaningful, Fulgur launched a new creative build server for Tesseract and invited mx, aze, and Wildy to join the group. Yet Polly lost interest in his own group and became inactive after wavybody (the other owner of Tesseract) left the group.

It's around this time that Polly gets recruited into Saturn and Polly teaches the Saturn members all about the new clans and events that have transpired since January 2024.

Saturn Aeterna.